CAILLAUX'S "LOVE LETTERS" ARE NOT EVEN INTERESTING, DECLARES WIFE'S ATTORNEY

Maitre Labori Dramatically Offers to Return Epistles to Mme. Gueydan in Court.

NOT WORTH READING.

Friend of Former Premier Addresses Court by Long Address of Eulogy.

PARIS, July 24.—The wildly melodramatic Caillaux case—in which every element enters except, perhaps, the inhuman murder of Editor Gaston Calmette of Le Figaro, for which Mme. Henriette Caillaux is on trial—resolved itself into a farce comedy today when the famous packet of "secret love missives" of Joseph Caillaux, former Premier of France, turned out to be billious not even of passing interest, much less scandal.

Like the heroine in a tragedy, Mme. Gueydan, divorced wife of Caillaux, at the end of her long speech of denunciation of Caillaux and his present wife, rose in the witness chair yesterday and said:

"Here are M. Caillaux's love letters from Mme. Raynouard" (the present Mme. Caillaux) "which I have kept I turn them over to you to do with as you wish"—and handed the packet to Maitre Labori, counsel for the accused woman.

It was a dramatic coup. As attorney for Mme. Caillaux and therefore for her husband, Labori was placed in a delicate situation. If the letters were really tender love epistles which passed between Caillaux and Mme. Raynouard while each was married to another they would prove a liaison that would materially decrease Mme. Caillaux's chances for acquittal.

But he took up the gauntlet as it was thrown. "I will read the letters to the jurors to-morrow," he promised.

To-day, scandal-loving Paris, mad with excitement, stormed the Palace of Justice to hang, breathlessly, upon the salacious missives.

"YOU PLAYED A FINE TRICK," SHOUTS LABORI.

Mme. Gueydan was recalled to the stand. Maitre Labori took his stand before her.

"You played a fine trick yesterday," he accused. "I return your letters. These are most uninteresting and only two might even be regarded as relevant. These letters will not be read."

POLICEMAN ACCUSED AFTER MERRY CAR FIGHT

Two Men Began It and the Others Butted In and Made It a Free for All.

A fist fight on a Norton's Patent car, in which the police took a hand, resulted in the arrest this afternoon of Policeman Anthony J. Terra of the West Thirty-seventh street station, Manhattan, on a charge of assault when the case came up in the Coney Island Police Court. He was paroled until Tuesday.

The complainant against the policeman was Edward O'Shaughnessy, an inspector of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company. He said Sam Braunstein, a clerk of Manhattan, got into an altercation with James Mason, the motorman, and he, the inspector, tried to settle the trouble, but all three got into a fight, which Policeman Rutherford of the Coney Island station tried to quell.

Terra then took a hand and when the smoke of battle cleared Mason, Braunstein and O'Shaughnessy had cut heads that had to be treated by an ambulance doctor.

Terra went to court to-day as a witness, with Rutherford, against the three men, who were charged with disorderly conduct and O'Shaughnessy identified him as the policeman who had struck him with a club.

WEEPS FOR ELOPING BOY HE SHOT WITHOUT WARNING IN OFFICE

William V. Cleary, Boss of Haverstraw, Killed 18-Year-Old Youth Who Sought Blessing for Marrying His Daughter.

USED REVOLVER OWNED BY THE CHIEF OF POLICE.

Father of Slain Boy Says Political Boss Will Set Up Defense of "Unwritten Law."

The defense of William V. Cleary, Town Clerk of Haverstraw, N. Y., who shot and killed his eighteen-year-old son-in-law, Eugene B. Newman in the Haverstraw Town Hall yesterday afternoon, is that he became suddenly insane when he was told that his daughter had been deceived by Newman prior to their clandestine marriage in Weehawken last Sunday. Cleary is in the New City Jail the victim of overwhelming remorse.

"He won't talk to anybody," said the Sheriff to-day. "He is full of regret for his hasty action. His wife came up to see him last night and he broke down completely when he saw her."

Evidence taken to-day by the Coroner shows that Cleary shot the boy without warning. The pistol he used is the property of Chief of Police Bigler of Haverstraw, who was out of town yesterday and left his revolver locked in the safe of Cleary, who is Town Clerk.

Cleary, it appears, had learned during a visit to New York Wednesday night that his daughter, who has been living in this city, and married young Newman. He also became possessed of the idea that Newman had wronged the girl. When he returned to Haverstraw yesterday afternoon his friends noticed that he was in great agitation. Some of them say he had evidently been drinking, but he was not given to indulgence in liquor.

PUNCH BOWL BEST IN HANDICAP AT YONKERS TRACK

Son of Ornament Wins in a Gallop—Long Shots in Front.

EMPIRE CITY RACE TRACK, YONKERS, July 24.—E. F. Cooney's Punch Bowl was a good horse to-day, at least against the company he met in the Handicap feature of the afternoon's racing. He picked up 117 pounds and gave weight away to Frederick M. Newman, part owner of the Rockland County Messenger and father of the dead boy, recounts the indignation that his son wronged the girl who is now a widow. He declares that Cleary had known for years that the boy and girl were to love with each other and had made no move to put a stop to their courtship.

"It is true," said the elder Newman to-day, "that Eugene married Anna Cleary secretly. Two days ago he told his mother, who is divorced from him and lives in New York with her husband, Charles Appleton. The boy's wife told her mother. I have reason to believe that Cleary knew of the marriage before my boy called on him yesterday and that the killing was premeditated."

DENIES HIS MURDERED SON WRONGED GIRL.

"Cleary claims my boy wronged his daughter. I can't believe it. Anna is twenty years old. My son is eighteen. I am positive that their relations were of the purest kind. They were in love with each other and were married."

"My son and Anna Cleary were childhood sweethearts. They were ways in love with each other and everybody in Haverstraw knew it."
